Methodology

Ohio Northern University launched the poll in collaboration with the polling firm, Lucid. The survey was conducted among registered voters in the state of Ohio (n=675) via a Qualtrics questionnaire. Individuals sampled were sent an individualized link to the survey. Quotas included were demographics by race, gender and party. The poll ran from July 17th to July 26th, 2023.

Quotas for race and gender were based upon the 2020 Census results, party based upon the Pew Research Center Party Affiliation by state data, with 42 percent Republicans, 40 percent Democrats, and 18 percent independents.¹ The survey results for the data are weighted by gender, race, and party. We weighted race based upon the 2020 race by ethnicity 2020 Census data, and age and education via the 2020 American Community Survey (ACS) 5-year supplement. We weighted the parties by the Pew Data, with those who initially labeled as independent asked to express their partisan lean via the question,

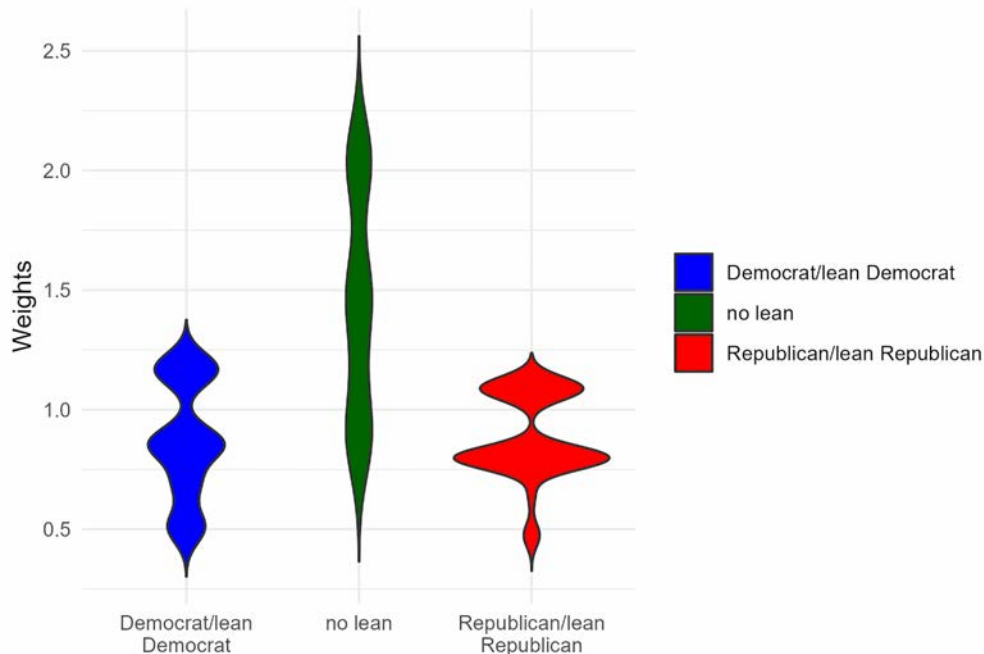

“Do you think of yourself as closer to the Republican or Democratic Party?”

In total, the survey provides a margin of error at approximately 3.7 percent for a 95 percent confidence interval. We additionally provide the topline results and subsetted margin of errors employing the “pollster” package in R. We plot the distribution of these weights by party in Figure 1 below. We see that the distribution of weights skewed towards higher values for Independents than Republicans or Democrats. The median weighted value for Democrats is 0.86, 0.80 for Republicans, and 1.50 for Independents. At the 95th percentile, the weighted value for Democrats is 1.17, 1.09 for Republicans, and 2.04 for Independents. These results suggest that Independents receive more influence per sampled individual, meaning that it is important to consider the potential role of Independents sampled in the results; should we have sampled an unrepresentative distribution of Independents, then the error in interpreting the preferences for Independents will naturally be skewed.

In regards to geographic distribution, we additionally asked for the ZIP codes of the respondent. Of Ohio's ZIP codes, we sampled from 359 unique ZIP codes of the state's 1,018. The sampled ZIP codes reflect those that comprise 63.4 percent of the population. Additionally, of the ZIP codes sampled, the median sampled ZIP code saw one person sampled, the 95th percentile 4, and the maximum at 11. This suggests that insofar as we sought sampling from a non-clustered geographic sample, we largely succeeded despite the lack of a regional quota filter.

The August 8th Election

The August 8th election sees voters casting a ballot in regards to whether to raise the threshold of votes necessary to pass a constitutional amendment, among other features. We therefore asked voters their general interest and knowledge of the issue at hand. Importantly, we asked those who either planned to vote and/or already cast a ballot for the election their level of agreement/disagreement with Issue 1. The results are presented below in the form of pie charts.

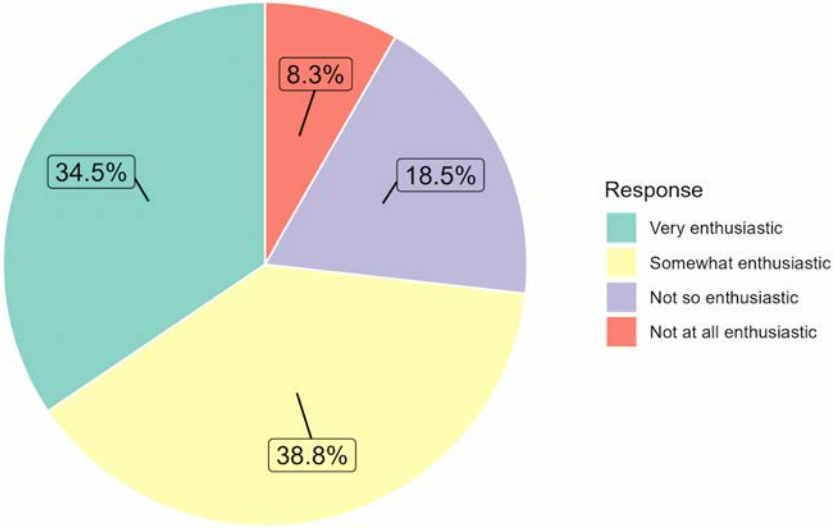

How much thought have you given to the upcoming August special election? Quite a lot, some, or only a little?

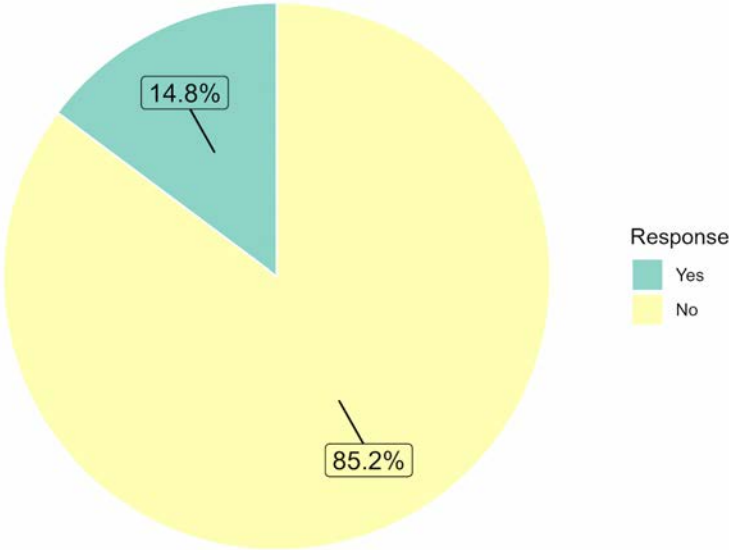

Do you, yourself, plan to vote in the election this August, or not?

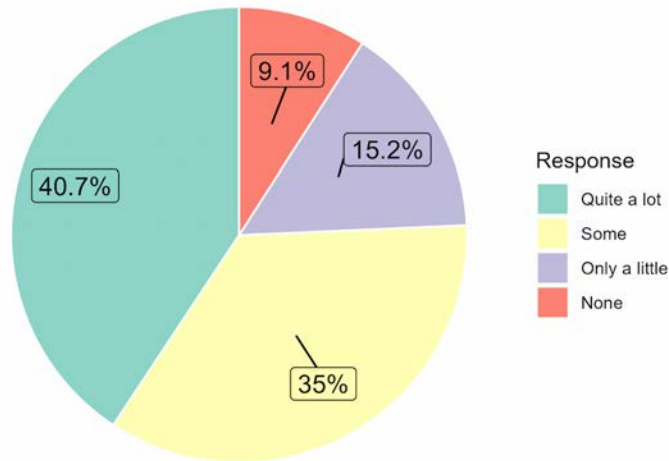

How enthusiastic are you about voting in the August election?

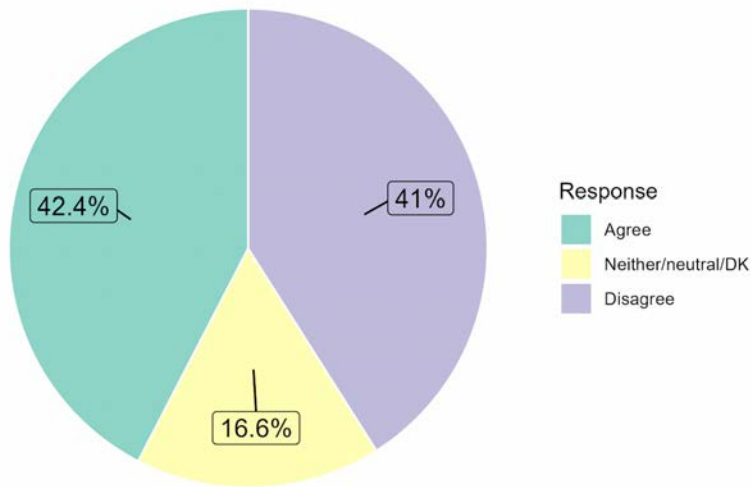

Have you already cast a ballot in the August election?

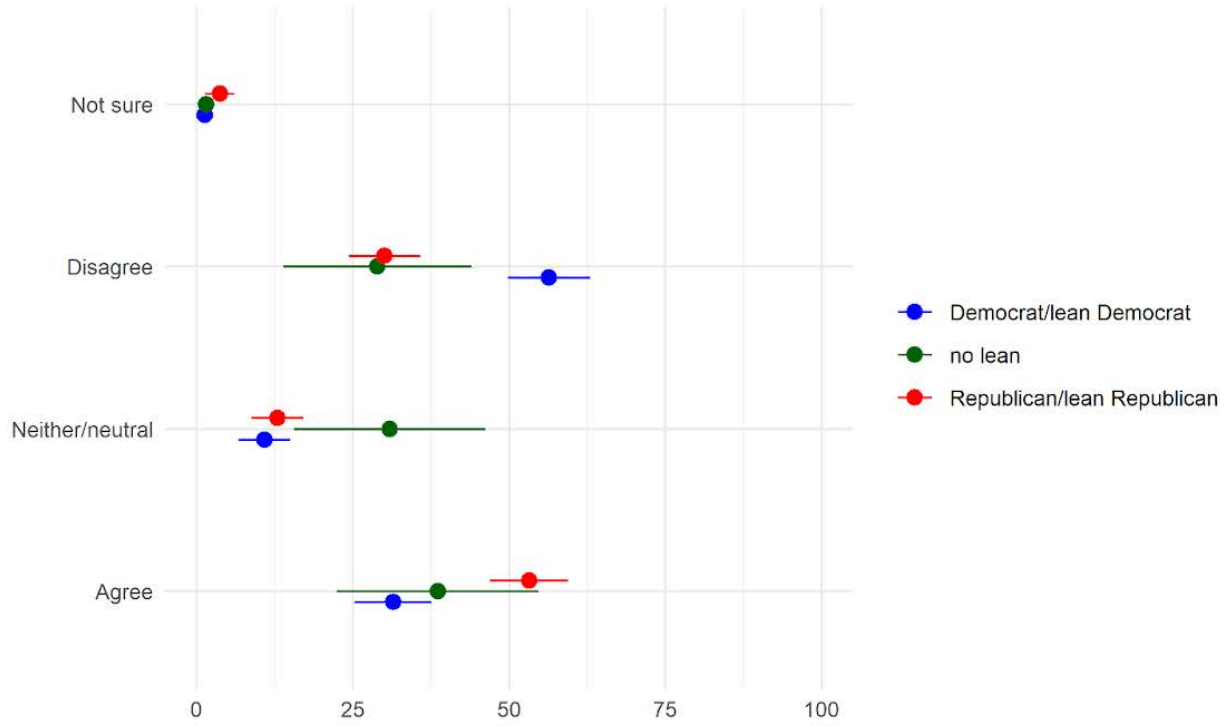

On August 8th, voters across Ohio will be asked to vote on Issue 1. The measure is a constitutional amendment that would increase the requirement to change the Ohio Constitution from a simple majority (50% +1) to a 60% majority. How much have you heard about this effort?

Ohio law currently requires a simple majority (50% + 1 person) of voters to approve a change to the state's constitution. Do you agree or disagree with the effort to increase the threshold majority to 60%?

Attitudes on abortion

Part of the interest in passing Issue 1 and increasing the difficulty of amending the Ohio State Constitution is in order to prevent the passage of extra abortion protections. Therefore, we asked several questions related to the awareness and approval of national and state level abortion issues and attitudes.

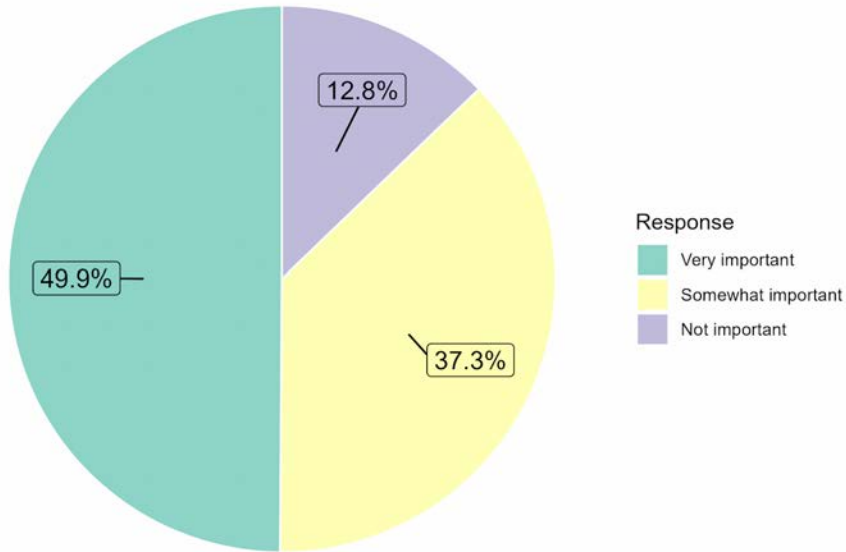

Which of the following statements comes closest to your views on abortion?

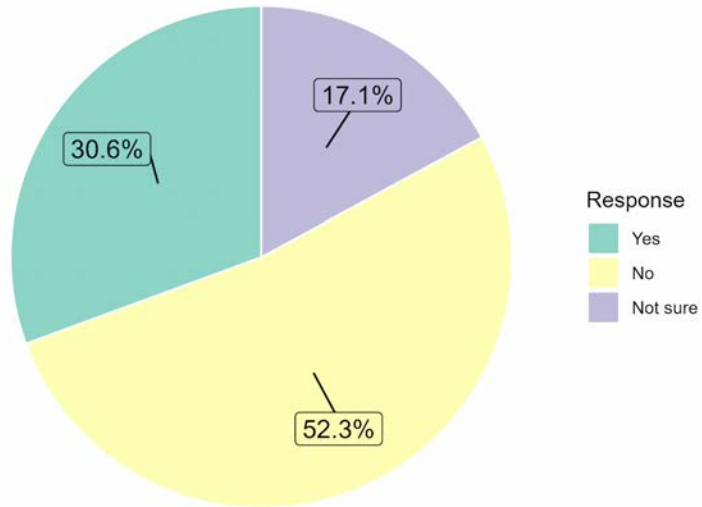

How closely have you been following the topic of abortion?

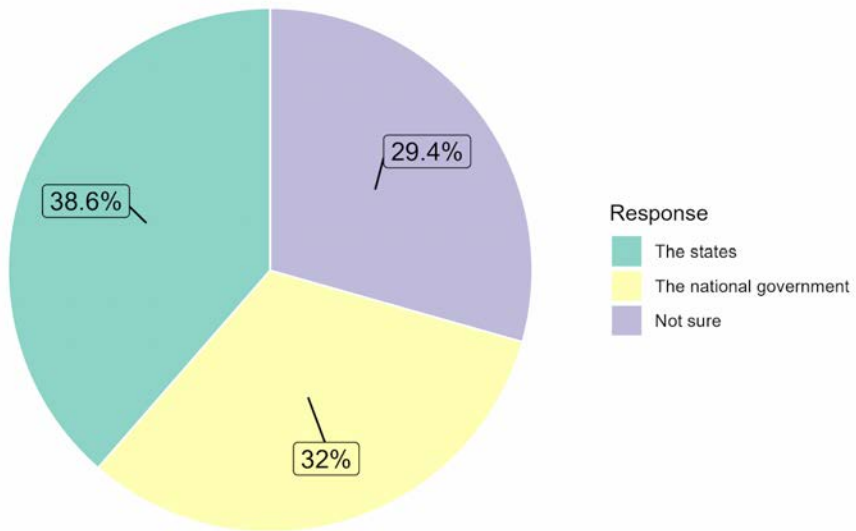

How important is the issue of abortion to you?

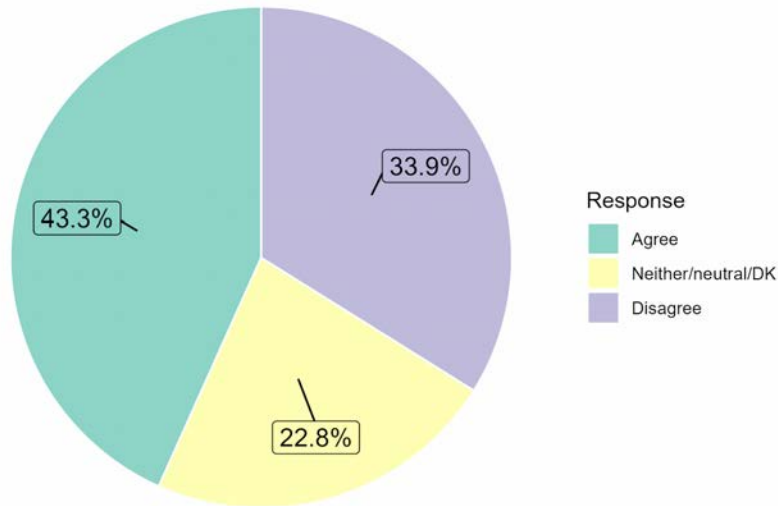

Should the Supreme Court have overturned Roe v. Wade which provided that a woman had a constitutional right to an abortion?

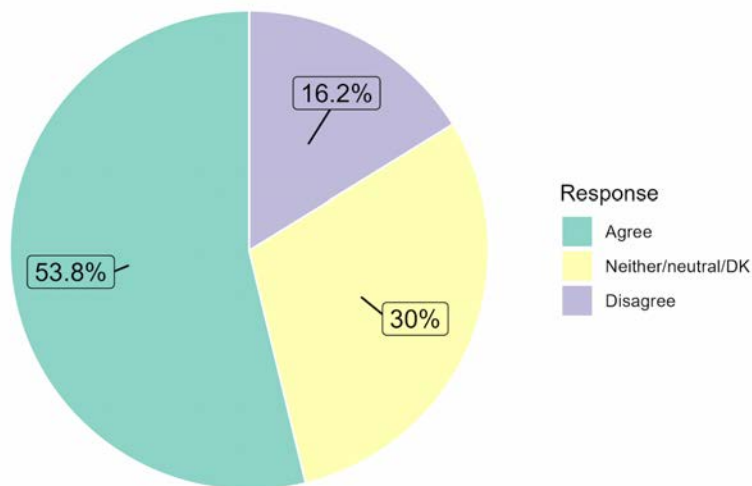

Do you think the issue of abortion is better left to the states or the national government?

Ohio currently prohibits abortion beyond 22 weeks of pregnancy, with few exceptions. Do you agree or disagree with future abortion restrictions in Ohio?

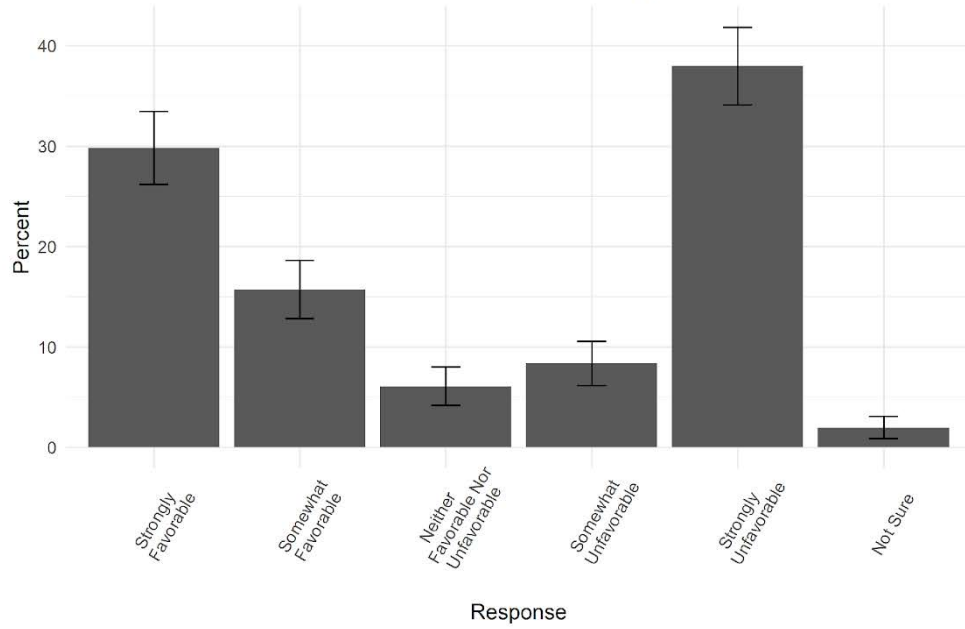

A proposed constitutional amendment in Ohio aims to protect an individual's personal autonomy on matters such as contraception, abortion, and fertility treatment. Do you agree or disagree with this measure?
